CITY AND COUNTY OFFICIAL PAPER.

WEDNESDAY.....NOV. 25, 1874.

The Express says the HERALD is shrinking its brains out. We are afraid no amount of skriving will produce the color of brains in our contemporary. The stuff is not in it.

If Mr. SABICHI is elected, no Water Commissioners will be appointed and the money spent to secure his election will be collected from the people in the shape of water rent.

OUR amiable evening contemporary refers to the editor of the HERALD as "the man over the way who does the Eatason business for the candidate for Mayor." This is classic if not gentlemanly; but the ring cannot expect to obtain all the virtues for $30 per week.

THE organ of the Water Company says it cannot see how its turning traitor to the Republican party and selling out to the Democrats will affect Mr. BEAUDRY. It has the effect of showing that having forfeited principle for money it put itself outside of the pale of respectability and its statements now are not entitled to the slightest consideration. If the ring bought it once, they had no difficulty in buying it again.

THE Evening Express does not admire the People's Ticket. We did not suppose it would. There is not a man on it who the Water or Gas Companies will be able to wield against the interests of the people of Los Angeles. If that ticket is elected, as no doubt it will be, there will be no more digging up the streets and leaving them in an almost impassable condition, and the law will be enforced demanding the fixing of the price of water by a Board of Commissioners, and many other things needed by the city will be done which are now prevented by the ring. As the Express is working in the interest of the ring it is hardly to be supposed that it should like the People's Ticket. The ring does not like it.

The Agricultural Prospect.

Although the rains visited us so early this Fall as to do some little damage to the ungathered grape crop, yet their coming has been on the whole a benefit. They prepared the ground for plowing, and it is probable that at no time within the history of the settlement of this valley have there been one-half so many acres of freshly plowed ground thus early in the season as this year. Our reports from all parts of the county are to the effect that the farmers are at work turning over the soil. A sufficient amount of rain has already fallen to place the ground in excellent condition for the plow. There are abundant indications to warrant the belief that next season will be the most prosperous ever seen in Southern California. Especially in Los Angeles valley will this be the case. Our population has largely increased within the past year, and the current of immigration continues to grow stronger day by day. It is hazardous little to say the population of this city and valley will be increased at least five thousand within a year beginning with last July. The class of immigration now flowing into Southern California is composed almost exclusively of mechanics and farmers—just the kind of people most needed to develop the resources of the country. We are entering on a prosperous era, the extent and magnitude of which depends as much or more on the liberality and enterprise of those already here as on the industry and perseverance of those coming among us. Let us encourage people to come here and encourage them to remain. There is land for all, and if those now holding large bodies of it would see it covered with farms, groves, orchards and vineyards, they must encourage immigration and to do this they will do well to remember that there are millions of acres of uncultivated land in California, and if farm-seekers cannot purchase at reasonable rates in this valley they will go elsewhere.

A Damaging Proposition.

There appears to be more than we at the time supposed in the rumor published in the HERALD some days ago to the effect that a scheme for turning the water from several canals now running through the city over on the high land on the east side of the river will be sought to be carried into effect in case Mr. SABICHI and the candidates for Councilmen associated with him are elected. We understand that the parties who desire to turn the water as mentioned have their plans all arranged and feel confident of success if they can elect Mr. SABICHI. It would no doubt add much to the value of the high lands on the east side of the river to place an abundant supply of water on them, and we should be pleased to see them so supplied, but it would be unjust and we could not endorse the proposition to thus enhance the value of one locality at the expense of and to the great injury of another. If the water is turned from several of the ditches now running through the city, the result will be serious loss to those residents now dependent on those ditches to irrigate their gardens and vineyards. Mr. BEAUDRY has supplied the high lands on the west side of the river with an abundance of water, but in doing so he has interfered with no man's right nor deprived any one of a single drop which was theirs before he commenced laying his pipes. In accomplishing this great work, which the Evening Express says will add millions of dollars to the taxable property of the city, Mr. BEAUDRY has asked for no assistance from the city, neither in the shape of money nor an exclusive franchise. What he has done he has done with his own means, and others may imitate his example and compete with his enterprise at will. If Mr. SABICHI and his friends would run on water the high land on the east side of the river let them obtain their supply from the flats as Mr. BEAUDRY has done. But when they undertake to stock the Council with men who will deprive a large portion of our citizens of the water on which they are dependent to irrigate their trees, they are seeking to force a measure which is both unwarranted and unjust. We warn those interested that if Mr. SABICHI and his ticket are elected an attempt, and, we fear, a successful one, will be made to carry out this scheme.

Why we Respond.

The San Francisco Examiner says, "Let us have peace—peace among the journalistic fraternity"—and wonders why editors will waste their energy in personal abuse of each other. These are questions we have frequently asked our evening contemporary, but it offers no response except to pour forth a torrent of personal abuse of the HERALD and of every person of whom we chance to say a good word. We regret this weakness or vice in our little neighbor, for two reasons:

First, it evinces a maliciousness of nature and depravity of disposition which is unpleasant to look upon in individual or journal; and, second, it provokes from us answers and retorts we know are not in accordance with the Golden Rule, which teaches us to do unto others as we would they should do unto us. We know the infirmities of the Express; we know that its cross is heavy to bear; we know that in choosing between principle and interest it bowed before the altar of Mammon; we know that it fell before the glittering gold of the tempter; we know that it knows it has sold itself; we know that it knows it is fighting against the interests of the people of Los Angeles; and we are willing to make room for the leper; we know that we should pardon its weakness and look with compassion upon its unconquerable passion for slander and misrepresentation; we know that from its simplest assertion to its most vehement protestation the people believe nothing until supported by testimony from other sources. Yet, when it pours forth its volumes of billingsgate and misnomers, we know that the French astronomers, before the French, England, Russia, Germany and the United States have already named their respective commissions, which, at the time we write this article, should be en route for their respective posts of observation.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The "T. S. C.'s" have a reception to-night.

Hon. J. Ross Browne, ex-Minister to China, is in the city.

Mr. J. W. Duncan, the builder of our State University, is in the city, stopping at the Pico House.

We are glad to welcome Mr. S. C. Hubbell back again after his extended trip East.

Officer Carpenter had an interesting time in escorting a drunk and disorderly down to the cooler last night and created quite a stir on Spring street.

The sailing of the Orizaba for Santa Barbara and San Francisco, has been postponed until to-morrow. The steamer train will leave the depot at 10:15 A. M.

In our remarks about the "Forest Grove Company" in Sunday's issue, we made a slight mistake in the name of the Directors: S. Hale, instead of S. Hawley, and J. F. Ward, instead of J. L. Ward.

Another call has been made for a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce on next Monday evening to elect a new Board of Directors. We hope this effort will prove more successful than the last.

Our friend Haverstick, of the U. S. Land Office, is gushing over with kindly feelings toward all mankind, and at the same time is as proud as a boy with a two-bladed pen-knife. It was a girl.

A horse broke loose from Donohue's stable yesterday and rushing out upon the street, ran into a hack driven by Mr. Hewitt. Mr. Hewitt's team became frightened at this and broke away from the vehicle, taking the pole down the street with them. Mr. Hewitt was thrown from the hack and received some severe injuries.

Mr. J. W. Potts returned to the city Monday from San Francisco, where he had been in attendance at the State Temperance Convention as a representative of the temperance people in Los Angeles. Mr. Potts reports truly that "there is a widespread interest manifested in the upper country in regard to Los Angeles and the southern part of the State."

We regret to learn that Arthur Lucky, son of Dr. W. T. Lucky, met with a severe accident at the Mirror office yesterday. While feeding press, three fingers of his right hand were caught in the machinery and the flesh mashed almost to a jelly. It is hoped that the bones are not injured, however, and that amputation will not be necessary. At best, the injury will prove most painful and will require a long time to heal.

If you have not secured your ticket for the Firemen's ball, do so at once. We hope the boys will have a rousing benefit and secure enough funds to purchase their much needed four-wheeled hose-carriage. Piepenberg's band will furnish music for the occasion and Mrs. Searle will preside over the banquet. The affair comes off at Turn-Verein Hall to-morrow night.

Rev. H. H. Messenger brought to our sanctum yesterday a number of bananas which were grown in the open air on his place near the San Gabriel Mission. The bulbs from which the banana stalks sprung were brought from the Sandwich Islands about twenty-two months ago. In eighteen months from the planting of the bunches the stalks blossomed and in three months longer the fruit matured. Fifteen bananas were borne upon the bunch. They were small, but equal in flavor to any which we have ever tasted. From the new bulbs, which will grow from the old ones this year, Mr. Messenger expects to procure much finer fruit. He thinks that the raising of bananas can be successfully prosecuted here and that without any unnatural protection for the plants. He has had much experience in tropical climates, and we consider his opinion on this subject very trustworthy. However, he thinks that the Florida banana is much better adapted to our soil and climate than any other.

Down the Road.

We took a ride with Conductor Hansen to Downey yesterday to enjoy a trip over the model branch road and to see the progress which our enterprising young neighbor is making.

We found the Downey depot piled full of freight awaiting shipment, and most of the material for the Anaheim extension of the road on hand ready for speedy use. Mr. N. A. McDonald, Superintendent of the track-laying force, informed us that the line is already graded throughout, and the ties are all provided as well as a considerable portion of the iron. Track-laying will doubtless be commenced before long and it is hoped that the work will be completed to Anaheim by New Years. In the town we found things equally progressive. A large hotel is in course of construction near the depot and, when finished, it will be a great convenience to the traveling public and the place generally.

Our friend Dave Smart was as gay as ever and we found him hard at work wrestling with an ax and two bowers. "Dave always carries a trump hand." Another hospitable friend, Herman Morris is comfortably installed with his partner, Mr. Levy, in a well stocked store and the firm is doing a rushing business in the general assortment line. Mr. Morris has many friends and acquaintances in the city who will be glad to hear of his prosperity in his location. Having only thirty minutes to stop in the place we were compelled to do a pretty good job of "rushing" to make connections. In that space we were again aboard the train, however, and whirling homeward. We formed the acquaintance of all the train men including engineer, fireman and brakemen, and found them as agreeable and accommodating a set of railroadmen as one would meet in a trip across the continent. If we are not greatly mistaken in our calculations, the Anaheim branch road is destined in the near future to assume the proportions and importance of a main line. When the road is completed to its proposed terminus and the Boston China Wharf is brought into requisition, much of the steamer freight and passenger traffic will doubtless take that route.

Political Meeting.

The call for a mass meeting of citizens "opposed to rings and cliques," brought out an assemblage of about two hundred at Stearns' Hall last night.

The meeting was called to order shortly after 8 o'clock, and Samuel Rucker was elected to the chair, with Geo. Gard, Vice-President and Henry Finney, Secretary. No time was wasted in speeches, but the meeting proceeded at once by "main force and awkwardness" to make the nominations.

Major Saeriste was nominated for Mayor and declared the candidate of the meeting by acclamation, there being no other name proposed. For Marshal, the nominations were B. F. Hartlee and Emil Harris. After considerable sparring, it was decided to vote by ballot on the names before the house and the result stood: Hartlee, 102; Harris, 52. Hartlee was declared the nominee of the Convention.

A. W. Hutton and Will D. Gould were placed in nomination for City Attorney. In this case the manner of voting was changed and the result secured by a division of the house. The majority was largely in favor of Gould and he was declared the nominee.

J. J. Mellus, Herman Neideeken and C. C. Lips were named for City Treasurer. A count being again resorted to, the vote stood: Mellus, 65; Neideeken, 40; and Lips, 2. Mellus was declared the candidate.

The vote for City Assessor was almost a unit for M. Madigan, there being but one scattering.

The candidates for Councilmen were then named as follows by an almost unanimous choice:

First Ward—T. P. Campbell, J. Mullally, R. Sotello, C. Forbes; Second Ward—J. R. Brierly, M. Teed, W. W. Robinson, W. B. Dunne; Third Ward—C. E. Huber, E. H. Workman, Louis Wolfskill and T. Leahy.

The meeting then adjourned without proceeding to the nominations for members of the School Board.

The nominees of the meeting then stand as follows:

For Mayor, L. J. Sacriste. For City Attorney, Will D. Gould. For City Treasurer, J. J. Mellus. For City Assessor, M. Madigan. For Councilmen, First Ward, T. P. Campbell, J. Mullally, R. Sotello and C. Forbes; Second Ward, J. R. Brierly, M. Teed, W. W. Robinson and W. B. Dunne. Third Ward, C. E. Huber, E. H. Workman, Louis Wolfskill and T. Leahy.

Los Angeles.

We copy the following letter written by Mr. H. L. Binford, now a resident of this city from the Jackson, Tennessee Whig and Tribune. It will be seen that Mr. Binford, though a resident of this county but a few months, has seen a great deal and has seen it all right:

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 20th, 1874.

MESSRS. EDITORS: According to promise I am now prepared to communicate to you and my many friends in Jackson and the surrounding country, my views of California and Los Angeles county and city.

I have delayed writing in order to get fully posted in regard to the country, so that I could write advisedly. I think this is one of the liveliest countries and finest climate that has ever been. It is neither hot or cold. Winter is short, the stalks blossomed and in three months longer the fruit matured. Fifteen bananas were borne upon the bunch. They were small, but equal in flavor to any which we have ever tasted. From the new bulbs, which will grow from the old ones this year, Mr. Messenger expects to procure much finer fruit. He thinks that the raising of bananas can be successfully prosecuted here and that without any unnatural protection for the plants. He has had much experience in tropical climates, and we consider his opinion on this subject very trustworthy. However, he thinks that the Florida banana is much better adapted to our soil and climate than any other.

The soil is rich, productive and remunerative, when properly cultivated, yielding in corn seventy-five to one hundred bushels per acre. Tobacco grows and yields three crops in one year from one planting. Beans, peas, potatoes, pumpkin, beets, cabbage, and in fact everything in the vegetable category grows well here, producing with and without irrigation, two and three crops on the same land in twelve months. There is a fair proportion of land in this country that will yield a good crop of corn without irrigation. Such land can be bought from $20 to $30 per acre, unimproved. The tropical fruits, such as oranges, lemons, limes and English walnuts flourish well here, and yield a handsome profit as soon as they commence bearing; they commence to yield when from six to ten years old. Any one may feel that he has a competency if he has twenty acres of land set in trees at a better age. Peaches and apples grow well here, in the Eastern States. Pears and grapes may be surprised either in quality or quantity. This excels all other countries for strawberries. I gathered and ate them to-day from vines that have been bearing every month since last February, though this is not a common thing, but can be by proper attention and irrigation. Some may call this a California strawberry yarn; should any one doubt it, I can produce a good witness, Dr. J. B. McFerrin, of Nashville, who helped to eat them. This is a great country, and the only way for one to know and to appreciate it is to come and see it. We have in this country the gopher and the mole, and they are destructive to vines and semi-tropical fruit trees, but they will, however, disappear as the country becomes settled. Wood and water is scarce in some localities; wood is worth $10 to $15 per cord, though we have to use but little wood except for cooking purposes. The general expense of living here is less than in Jackson, though a few stages are higher. Honey is one of the staples of the country, and there is no country that can produce a superior quality; and as to quantity, it is spoken of and sold by the ton. In fact, we might say this is a land of milk and honey, a land of fruits and flowers, for we have all of them in abundance the year round. I think in a few years, on account of health, climate, soil, and productions, this country will be densely populated by the best class of citizens from every country and climate. If any one in Tennessee or any of the Southern States contemplates a change of location, I know of no country better adapted to the people of the South than Los Angeles; yet I cannot advise the American to go to the West. The towns and country are overstocked with lawyers, doctors, merchants and clerks, so there is not much room for them. The country needs bone and muscle, good farmers, carpenters, plasterers, brickmasons, blacksmiths and day laborers on the farm, all of which command good wages. Farm hands get $25 to $30 per month and board by the year.

I must bring my letter to a close, as I have already made it longer than I anticipated. I shall take pleasure in answering letters from any of my friends, or from any one desirous of moving here, if they wish further information. Yours, H. L. Binford.

True Democracy.

(Translated from La Voz del Nuevo Mundo, of Nov. 17th.)

Under Democratic rule every community may prosper, when integrity and civic virtues, the fortune of nations, shed their light upon the front; but when virtue, intelligence and knowledge, without which their well-being and prosperity are impossible, are supplanted by audacity, vanity and ignorance, communities instead of advancing, are impeded and not unfrequently surrounded with difficulties, the forerunner of sorrowful crises which become the burial places of liberty and of personal rights.

The beautiful city of Los Angeles, celebrated for the salubrity of its climate, the fertility of its soil, the hospitality of its amiable citizens and the extraordinary progress which of late has been made in the development of its resources which will soon make it not only one of the most important cities of California, but of Pacific America, requires local officers who understand and can help carry forward this movement, without which all individual efforts will be of no avail. For this reason, the patriotic and well-meaning citizens who in truth love their city and desire its growth and prosperity, should be active in the public meetings, so that from the ballot box may result the election of honest citizens who, with their popularity and intelligence, are well known for their integrity, patriotism, knowledge and probity.

The community having this matter in charge has employed detective to aid in the enforcement of the law. A reward of one hundred dollars will be paid to any one who may give information which will lead to the conviction of any person guilty of a violation of the code above quoted or any other provision of the Penal Code relating to elections. Such information may be reported to the District Attorney, who will give all necessary information on the subject.

CITY AND COUNTY OFFICIAL PAPER.

WEDNESDAY.....NOV. 25, 1874.

A Just Tribute.

In the agricultural column of the Sacramento Record of last Saturday we find a just tribute to the press of Southern California. The progress of our section of the State is more largely due to the steadfast, untiring labor of its newspaper editors than to all other causes combined. The Record says:

"There is one portion of the State at least, in which the local papers appreciate their mission, and where they have been pursuing that mission with zeal and effectiveness for the last three or four years, and that portion of the State is now receiving the benefits of these efforts. The State is now receiving an influx of from 6,000 to 7,000 of the very best classes of immigration per month—farmers, mechanics and skilled laborers, and much the larger portion of these immigrants are going right through the Northern and central parts of the State, scarcely turning their eyes to the right or left, so intent are they fixed on Los Angeles, San Bernardino, San Diego, or some other Southern county."

"Why is that?" Simply because the local press of these counties have been more wide awake to their own interests and the interests of their communities. They have set forth the advantages of their climate, the richness and fertility of the soil, by portraying the successful experiments in fruit culture, the profits of orange, lemon, lime, raisin, English walnut, almond, prune, date and other fruit culture, by noticing the great yields of alfalfa, of wheat, corn, barley, oats, cotton, flax, castor bean, cotton, tobacco and other products; by encouraging and speaking in friendly and truthful terms of all public enterprises, of harbor improvements, of railroad building, steamboat companies and whatever aids facilities to and helps to build up and render valuable and desirable the country. While the local papers of the Northern counties are earnestly and officially at work for the general interest of that portion of the State, and while the tide of immigration is steadily setting in that direction, a great majority of the local press of the Northern and the central parts of the State seem to have forgotten that a like course on their part would produce like results."
